

A grayscale micrograph showing a field of elongated, spindle-shaped cells, likely fibroblasts or myocytes, scattered across a light gray background. The cells exhibit varying degrees of elongation and some have visible nuclei. In the upper right corner, there is a white rectangular box containing a scale bar and the text "40 μm".

40 μm